

Generic controls show late capability erosion, not response collapse

